Mr. Joseph Cumberland, of this township, moved to Lynchborg last week.

We wish to say, that an nominating Mr. J. M. Fonat as the Republican candidate for County Commissioner, the convention acted waste. No better man for the position could have been rejected. He is a man who has fought his own butter, overcome a great many difficulties and by his own exertions has become a man of good business qualifications. The Republicans of this township are well satisfied with the choice of the convention and are determined to elset him. By profession he is a farmer. He commenced married life with only a few dollars, and by being a good financier and very industrious he has accommissed considerable real estate. He is a Republican; having cast his first vote for Lincoln and that he has ever since acted with that party is beyond question. He served in the late war and was honorably discharged. He demands his dees, but believes that others have the same rights as himself, honce he is always fair and liberal in his dealings. His regard for truth and fair dealing is only equaled by his intense hatred for all "bombast" and sham. That he is highly esteemed in this community was shown by the grand serenade given him Tuesday night by the Buford band. He has always been in favor of public improvement, when necessary, and if elected to the position for which he was nominated the people of Highland county may be assured that the business entrusted to his care will be rightly attended to.

We have so often been asked the question, "Are you a Prohibitionist?" that we feel it our duty to speak a word in regard to the matter. Our political complexion is undoubtedly Republican and always has been, and we are not sahamed of it either, by a long shot. Some have asked us why we take Mr. Redkay's part. We auswer that were the Leesburg Buckeys to attack any Republican or Democrat personally, of the same standing in the community as Mr. Redkey, we would speak up in their defense just the same. As we said before, we wish the Buckeys the best of success, but every article that enters its columns personally referring to Mr. Redkey in the way they have in the past few weeks, undoubtedly injures the paper, and that bedly too.

We doubt if there is, or can be, a specific remedy for rheumatism; but thousands who have suffered its pains have been greatly benefited by Hood's Barsaparilia. If you have failed to find relief, try this great remedy.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion; 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, cf. cting cures bitherto unknown.
